Itsumo ame

Ichirei

Ninawanai

Sanseishimasu

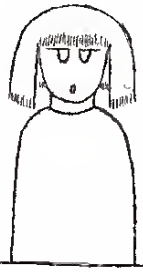
What are you two doing?

Because that tree fell and you were around to hear it.

So, what brings you here?

We're working on more effective metaphors, ones that burn twice as bright and two-thirds as long.

What do you think the most overappreciated thing is?



I wanted your opinions for a survey:

Well, this is awkward.

Sugar.

Salt.

At the same time

Sugar can be used in both food and drink.

Salt has its own decorative container (as part of a set).

Oh, that's a pretty good one.

Now now, it's about the cost of the journey, not your budget at the destination.

A word from your sponsors?

What's our next segment?

Oh well, thanks for reading, readers (keep up the good work).

We don't have any.

☐ ← checked